

Problem scenario – girls

Drugs Awareness

Janice and Simone have been anxiously waiting for the weekend as there is a new club opening up and all their friends are going on Saturday night. They are planning to dress up to look older so they can get in.

As the bouncer nods them in past the front gate they give each other a quick hug and Simone says 'We did it. Let's go get a drink!' At the bar, two hot guys offer to buy their drinks. As the night wears on they are drinking more and more and they haven't even opened their purses! Both girls are so excited that these guys are really into them. One of the guys, Ricky, says to Simone, 'I can see you are into enjoying yourself – how about taking some of this to heighten your enjoyment?' as he dangles a small packet of white powder in front of her face. Janice is totally wrecked by this point and Simone is a bit worried that her friend can't help her out with this decision.

Questions

- ▶ What do you think happens next?
- ▶ What do you think Simone should do?
- ▶ What do you think these guys will do if she says no?
- ▶ Do you think these guys are really into them?
- ▶ Is this a typical girls' night out?
- ▶ Are they safe? List the risks that they are taking.
- ▶ Do you think that she is under pressure to take these drugs?
- ▶ Is it necessary to drink or take drugs to have a good night out?

Photocopiable:

Developing Emotional Literacy with Teenagers, 2nd edition © Tina Rae, 2013 (SAGE)