

ABOUT THE EDITORS

Gordon Morris Bakken is Professor of History at California State University, Fullerton; Past President of Phi Alpha Theta, the national honor society in history; Founding Vice President and a Director of the California Supreme Court Historical Society; former Parliamentarian of the Organization of American Historians; Series Editor of The Legal History of North America for the University of Oklahoma Press, Editor of Law in the Western United States (2000) for the University of Oklahoma Press, and a member of the editorial boards of Western Legal History and Montana: The Magazine of Western History. He is also Editor of California Legal History, the journal of the California Supreme Court Historical Society.

Professor Bakken earned his BS (1966), MS (1967), PhD (1970), and JD (1973) at the University of Wisconsin. He is the author or editor of sixteen books, forty-one articles, sixteen book chapters and encyclopedia entries, and numerous reviews. With Brenda Farrington, he coauthored Learning California History (1999) and the six-volume work The American West (2000). He has held twelve research grants, including the Russell Sage Residency Fellowship in Law; two American Bar Foundation Fellowships; and the Bradley Fellowship at the Montana Historical Society.

Professor Bakken has been the faculty advisor for the Theta Pi chapter of Phi Alpha Theta on the California State University, Fullerton, campus since 1982. He teaches Westward Movement, Women of the American West, Women and American Law, American Legal and Constitutional History, Development of American Law, American Military Heritage, Historical Thinking, Historical Writing, Historical Editing, California History, Real Estate and Land Use Law, Principles of Real Estate, Environmental Law, Administrative Law, and Collective Bargaining, as well as survey courses in American History.

Alexandra Kindell is a doctoral candidate at Iowa State University, in residence at the Huntington Library in San Marino, California. She teaches California History at Vanguard University and California State University, Fullerton, as well as Historical Writing at California State University, Fullerton. She previously served as Assistant Editor of Agricultural History, the journal of record for the field of agricultural and rural history. She is actively involved with the history section of the Southwestern Social Science Association.

She is the recipient of the Phi Alpha Theta Doctoral Scholarship (2004), the Garst Dissertation Fellowship (2004), the Colonial Dames Scholarship (2002), the Carmen Bayati Memorial Scholarship (1997), and the Warren Beck Memorial Scholarship (1996). Her scholarship has been recognized twice with the Procter Prize in American History at the Southwestern Historical Association (1999 and 2002). Her most recent publication, "Women and Veterinary Medicine," appeared in the Encyclopedia of Women in the American West (2003).

Kindell received her BA (1997) and MA (2001) from California State University, Fullerton, and expects to receive her PhD from Iowa State University in May 2006.